Be the boss of your own mechanical and auto electric

workshop and live in a city that has EVERYTHING

It's the perfect opportunity

– your own workshop and living in Auckland, a city that boasts everything from beaches and mountain ranges to superlative restaurants and superb shopping.

This workshop is located in Auckland, New Zealand's largest city, and boasts a history going back 30 years. Its client base is made up of loyal customers from the general public along with local commercial operators - cars, truck, trailers, earth moving equipment – anything and everything. Its longevity in the region has seen the business attract a large base of regular clients and in some instances, whole generations of the same family bring in their cars for servicing.

With its extensive plant and equipment and experienced staff, the business is capable of undertaking a broad range of auto electrical and mechanical services. In particular, the business is known for its auto electrical expertise and can tackle any task from vehicle diagnostics to car security, audio, and air-conditioning repairs.

AS WELL AS UNDERTAKING WORKSHOP REPAIRS AND SERVICING, IT ALSO HAS A MOBILE REPAIR SERVICE FOR BREAKDOWNS AND ROADSIDE ASSISTANCE.

The business is a member of the Motor Trades Association and an authorised agent for the Automobile Association. It's also a service agent for BOSCH and is part of an independent group who use its collective buying power to purchase reduced cost automotive batteries.

The business would suit a hands-on owner with a mechanical background looking to build on an already well-established operation. There's plenty of potential for additional growth for a new owner looking to push the business.

Auckland is a city of both natural beauty and modern urban living. Its diverse natural setting encompasses the nearby native bushland of the Waitakere Ranges and stretches to the beaches of the west coast and its two harbours. With possibly the best climate in New Zealand there's plenty of opportunities to enjoy the coastal lifestyle by taking in a spot of fishing, boating, surfing, bushwalking, as well as a host of other leisure and extreme sports activities.

The city itself has a vibrant and dynamic life of its own, and as New Zealand's largest city, has a huge range of shopping and dining experiences for you to sample. With its strong multi-cultural component it's a destination that anyone new to the country will find they quickly fit in.
