

Panel beating and paint shop – the biggest and the best

Located in the heart of New Zealand's beautiful Taranaki region, not only is this paint and panel business the perfect opportunity to enjoy an idyllic coastal lifestyle, it's also your chance to hit the ground running with a thriving workshop and established client base.

Locally, the workshop is the biggest and most modern operation of its kind, capable of servicing 15–20 cars and trucks at any one time. With its comprehensive plant and equipment and experienced staff, the business can service all vehicles, from standard cars and trucks, all the way through to commercial aircraft.

During its three years in operation the business and its high quality workmanship has attracted an ever-expanding clientele from both the public and other local businesses. As a recommended repairer for the major insurance companies, the workshop receives a steady flow of insurance work in addition to its private, truck and fleet clients.

The 800 sq metre workshop is located in a thriving industrial area in the Taranaki region's largest city. With strong residential and commercial expansion in the area, the workshop is well placed for future growth, particularly in terms of further developing its commercial truck clientele.

As for the lifestyle, you can sit back and take a deep breath of the clean coastal air. Go and explore the local parks around Mt. Taranaki or climb the mountain itself. Check out some of the area's legendary surfing spots or make the most of the town's ample shopping, dining and entertainment opportunities. The local region is a fantastic place to raise a family or simply enjoy life without the big city madness.
